ROADWEST BULKITE: The Trusted Trailer for Grain Haulage

For more than 55 years, Roadwest Transport (RWT) has been designing and manufacturing heavy transport equipment in Western Australia, earning a reputation for building trailers that are made to suit and built to last. Since 1970, RWT has delivered high-quality, durable and high-performance trailer solutions purpose-built for Australia's demanding operating conditions.

A prime example of this commitment to quality is Roadwest Transport's Bulkite grain trailer. Expertly engineered for Australian grain haulage, the Bulkite delivers the performance, reliability and efficiency operators demand. Available in both single trailer and road train configurations, it is built to maximise payload, minimise downtime and deliver dependable performance season after season.

Every aspect of the RWT Bulkite has been carefully considered to deliver a trailer that works as hard as the operators who rely on it. With an impressive 51m³ capacity and a 10.3-metre overall length, the Bulkite is designed to maximise productivity. Its robust extruded aluminium body provides the strength and durability required for demanding Australian conditions, while intelligent design features, including its 45-degree internal corner panels and a flush geared grain door, ensure smooth product flow, complete load removal and controlled discharge.

Roadwest Transport delivers more than exceptional Australian-built trailers. Every trailer is backed by an experienced dealership network, providing operators with reliable support and peace of mind throughout the life of their investment.

For WA operators, G & A Lombardi delivers complete Roadwest Transport trailer solutions, including sales, servicing, repairs and parts support.

A LITTLE MAINTENANCE. A LOT LESS DOWNTIME.

The warning signs are there. The key is spotting them before they become downtime.

A trailer doesn't have to break down to tell you it needs attention.

Every kilometre, every load and every hard stop puts wear on the components that keep a heavy transport trailer safely on the road. For Western Australian operators covering long distances and carrying demanding loads, regular servicing and preventative maintenance are about more than keeping equipment running — they're about identifying problems before they become costly downtime, safety issues or unexpected repairs.

During the NHVR's 2025 month-long national safety operation focusing on the waste and construction industries, more than 4,500 heavy vehicles were inspected across Australia, with 3,074 defective components identified, including 113 major defects (NHVR – Operation Sapphire 2025). Mechanical non-compliance was a key concern, with faulty brakes among the major defects.

For heavy transport operators, these figures reinforce the importance of regularly inspecting and maintaining critical systems before wear develops into a major defect.

This is where using a heavy transport specialist can make a real difference. Taking your trailers to a specialist like G & A Lombardi, who understands the demands placed on heavy transport trailers across Western Australia, can help detect wear and potential problems before they lead to costly repairs or unexpected downtime. Their experienced team provides comprehensive trailer servicing, repairs, chassis straightening and axle alignments to help keep equipment performing at its best.

DON'T WAIT FOR DOWNTIME. Keep your trailer road-ready with G & A Lombardi, your One Stop Trailer Shop. Book your service today. (08) 6310 2222
